

The Sane Prepper: Basic Preparedness for Suburban Families

Could your family go through a multi-week disaster without external assistance during bad weather? For most, the answer is no. Some basic, and relatively inexpensive, disaster preparedness is the solution. You don't need to build a bunker in your basement and buy an armory of guns to be adequately prepared for a few weeks. I wrote this with my close friends in mind. They are busy working mothers and fathers who don't know where to start. This short book is aimed at them; at you.
