

Anatole France and His Circle: Being His Table-Talk, Collected Recorded by Paul Gsell; Illustrated From Paintings by Pierre Calmettes (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from Anatole France and His Circle: Being His Table-Talk, Collected Recorded by Paul Gsell; Illustrated From Paintings by Pierre Calmettes The familiar conversations of the Abbe Jerome Coignard were preserved for us by his naive disciple, Jacques Tournebroche. Our good Master, Anatole France, is not without a certain intellectual relationship with the Abbe Jerome Coignard. He converses with every bit as much charm. It would be a great pity if his learned and substantial remarks were for ever lost. Another Tournebroche, it was our good fortune of yore to listen to them, at those morning gatherings at the Villa Said which were, before the War, the most brilliant entertainments of the mind. Scholars, artists, politicians, Spanish anarchists and Russian nihilists were received at that residence. The host, in his keen desire to know the most varied specimens of humanity, welcomed them all with affectionate courtesy.
