

Drug Education (Pse in Focus)

This title addresses the need for new publishing in this area, by providing a new specific resource dealing with the most important issues within PSE for schools. Market research has shown that these issues, which affect students from all backgrounds are areas that teachers need the most help with, and this range of titles represents the most important topics that teachers have to deal with. Materials are assured to be reliable, accurate and in touch with the sorts of requirements teachers have of their new PSE resources as they have been written by a team of specialist LEA advisory/officers based on experience and understanding of real teaching needs. It provides a wealth of material that teachers can use, including help and ready-made lessons for those non-specialists who need it. Photocopiable material is available combining teaching background notes, plus follow up activities. It is ideal for use alongside the PSE Programme, giving structure for 5 years PSE work, following up in detail on selected issues from that series.
