

John Barleycorn: Alcoholic Memoirs

Two of British author Jack Londons books are in this Kindle eBook: John Barleycorn and Martin Eden John Barleycorn (1913) The popular Hollywood film John Barleycorn was based on Londons novel about a man struggling with alcoholism. Martin Eden (1909) A young man struggles to become a writer in Jack Londons semi-autobiographical work first serialized in the Pacific Monthly. Eden portrays the writer and his frustration with the publishing industry, exploring artistic sensibilities. About The Author American writer John Griffith London (1876-1916) was a bestselling author and one of the few celebrity writers to make a large amount from popular novels including The Call of the Wild and short stories To Build a Fire. He also wrote about the San Francisco Bay area in The Sea Wolf, another best-seller. London advocated socialism and wrote several books involving unionization and socialism including his dystopian novel The Iron Heel, his non-fiction expose The People of the Abyss, and The War of the Classes. To prepare for his novel Call of the Wild, London spent almost year in the Yukon. It was, arguably, his greatest success.
