

The Beatitudes of Jesus Christ: Blessed are the poor... in spirit (The sermon on the Mount by Jesus Christ Book 1)

1. We have a general account of this sermon. The Preacher was our Lord Jesus Christ, the Prince of preachers, the great Prophet of his church, who came into the world, to be the Light of the world. The prophets and John had done virtuously in preaching, but our Lord Jesus Christ excelled them all. He is the eternal Wisdom, that lay in the bosom of the Father, before all worlds, and perfectly knew his will; and he is the eternal Word, by whom he has in these last days spoken to us. 2. Our Lord Jesus Christ came not only to purchase blessings for us, but to pour out and pronounce blessings on us; and here he does it as one having authority, as one that can command the blessing, even life for evermore, and that is the blessing here again and again promised to the good; his pronouncing them happy makes them so; for those whom he blesses, are blessed indeed. 3. The way to happiness is here opened, and made a highway; and this coming from the mouth of Jesus Christ, it is intimated that from him, and by him, we are to receive both the seed and the fruit, both the grace required, and the glory promised. Nothing passes between God and fallen man, but through his hand. 4. The eight beatitudes begins here. Do we ask then who are happy? It is answered,. The poor in spirit are happy. There is a poor-spiritedness that is so far from making men blessed that it is a sin and a snare towardice and base fear, and a willing subjection to the lusts of men. But this poverty of spirit is a gracious disposition of soul, by which we are emptied of self, in order to our being filled with Jesus Christ. To be poor in spirit is, to be contentedly poor, willing to be emptied of worldly wealth, if God orders that to be our lot; to bring our mind to our condition, when it is a low condition. 5. Our Lord Jesus Christ had lately called his disciples, and told them that they should be fishers of men; here he tells them further what he designed them to be the salt of the earth, and lights of the world, that they might be indeed what it was expected they should be. Ye are the salt of the earth. 6. Those to whom Our Lord Jesus Christ preached, and for whose use he gave these instructions to his disciples, were such as in their religion had an eye. To the scriptures of the Old Testament as their rule, and therein Our Lord Jesus Christ shows them they were in the right: To the scribes and the Pharisees as their example, and therein Our Lord Jesus Christ shows them they were in the wrong. 7. Verily I say unto you, I, the Amen, the faithful Witness, solemnly declare it, that till heaven and earth pass, when time shall be no more, and the unchangeable state of recompenses shall supersede all laws, one jot, or one tittle, the least and most minute circumstance, shall in no wise pass from the law till all be fulfilled; 8. Our Lord Jesus Christ having laid down these principles, that Moses and the prophets were still to be their rulers, but that the scribes and Pharisees were to be no longer their rulers, proceeds to expound the law in some particular instances, and to vindicate it from the corrupt glosses which those expositors had put upon it.
