

Tonto Canto Pocahontas

Out of the fry bread pan, into the fire! Native American law student Crispy Calusa had big dreams when he left home for the Big Apple, but its a whole different world off the Rez. While striving for an education, hes managed to piss off the citys locals. And thats not even the awkward part. As he chases women on the singles circuit, hes inadvertently turned on grannies in heat. The last thing he wants to do is give up on his plans, but his mother wont stop telling him to bag it up and come on home. Before he can put up a fight, hes issued an ultimatum. Crispys tribal elders put the ow in powwow and theyve ordered him to get engaged to an indigenous woman in thirty days or be kicked out of the tribe. If he wants his future children to be part of the drum circle and have their turn fancy dancing in his tribal regalia, hes got to shed the Native Nerd label and pursue something much more important than a degree: love. Is it possible for Crispy to follow his dreams and still hold on to the past? Will he find his Pocahontas or will a secret wreck his life before she can become a part of his?
