

The Willing Witness: A Pride Wars Short Story

First appeared in Untamed and Unleashed Paranormal Twists Anthology and includes Charlies Bear by Ashley Renee Phillips No parts have been changed Aubrey Jacobs, child genius, and aspiring lawyer, came from a very wealth family. She had the perfect life and she believed in justice at all costs. On the way to her dorm room after another all-nighter spent in the library, she witnesses the murder of a seemingly random college kid. With her thirst for justice she contacts the police and tells them everything she saw and heard. And now Aubrey has been whisked away to the middle of nowhere New Mexico under the Witness Protection Program. Nicholas Jennings had always been faster, could see better, could hear better, and could smell better than anyone else he knew. Raised by a single father after his mother abandoned him. Because of his superior skills he was able to be one of the youngest United States Marshals. His first assignment was Aubrey Jacobs. When people show up unexpectedly looking for Aubrey, not only does she get the shock of her life by being introduced to a whole new world she never knew possible, but so does Nicholas.  Charlies life was never an easy road. Growing up, all she wanted was a normal life and a normal boyfriend but when her sisters car breaks down on the mean streets of Laredo with no way home, her life changed forever. The handsome stranger who helped the sisters in their time of need held secrets not even Charlie was sure she could handle. Does she accept Brendon for who and what he is, or does she run away and never look back?
