

Adventures of Caleb Williams, Vol. 1 of 2 (Classic Reprint)

William Godwin was born at Wisbeach, in Cambridgeshire, 3d March, 1756. His grandfather had been a dissenting minister in London. His father was also a clergjonan. In the year 1760 the father removed with his family to a vfillage about sixteen miles north of Norwich, where he presided over a congregation. William was one of many children, neither 2ie eldest nor the youngest among them. Very early, even in childhood, he developed that love of acquirement and knowledge which stamped his future career. In the year 1767 he was placed with a private tutor at Norwich, for the purposes of classical education. Mr. Godwin has very recently published a work, Thoughts on Man, his Nature, Productions, and Discoveries, which contains various interesting particulars respecting himself. From this we learn that he had in youth a prominent vein of docility. He adds, Whatever it was proposed to teach me that was in any degree accordant with my constitution and capacity, I was willing to learn. He continues, I was ambitious to be a leader, and to be regarded by others with feelings of complacency. From these circumstances, it is evident that Mr. Godwin was not one of those youths who, strenuously active and eager in the pursuit of some peculiar knowledge of their own selection, rebel against authority, and are tortured by the regihar application required to the commonplace routine of education.(Typographical errors above are due to OCR software and dont occur in the book.)About the Publisher Forgotten Books is a publisher of historical writings, such as: Philosophy, Classics, Science, Religion, History, Folklore and Mythology.Forgotten Books Classic Reprint Series utilizes the latest technology to regenerate facsimiles of historically important writings.
